Property Maintenance Assistance Guide

Owning your own place is a significant part of the American dream, but sometimes life throws us a curveball, and keeping up with property maintenance becomes a major challenge. Neglected maintenance can quickly turn your cozy home into an unhealthy and unsafe place to live. Fortunately, this guide has got your back. We've compiled the best resources, from labor to materials, and other ways to help cover property maintenance costs.

So, where do you start? First things first, don't get overwhelmed. Finding the right solution might take a bit of effort, but there's plenty of help out there.

Start by assessing your needs. If you can afford to hire a contractor but lack the time or skills to do the work yourself, consider local businesses in Harrisonville. If finances are tight but you're otherwise financially stable, explore options for home improvement funding and affordable maintenance supplies.

If money is really tight and you can't afford the work or supplies, there are volunteer groups that can assist you. Financial or physical challenges can make home maintenance tough, but the hardest part might just be asking for help. Rest assured, people are ready to lend a hand once they know you need it.

In This Guide:

- Physical assistance resources
- Financial assistance resources
- Item removal opportunities
- Maintenance material and supply resources
- Donation of items
- Other resources

When you need physical assistance with property maintenance, consider reaching out to the following individuals or organizations in this order:

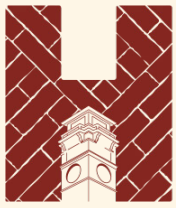

Start with family: Ask children, siblings, or other relatives to help with small needs.

For smaller projects like cleanup or minor painting, there are often small groups willing to take on service projects.

Local organizations, such as churches, scouting groups, student groups, and other service organizations, can be excellent sources of help. These groups typically have members who can assist with cleanup, repairs, and other home projects.

Maintenance projects can be less overwhelming with a little help from the community.

West Central Community Action Agency may be able to help with weatherization. Call (660) 476- 2185

Reduced or free Materials: CraigList at kansascity.craigslist.org, Facebook Marketplace or Community group pages, the local newspaper Classified ads, garage sales, etc.

The Habitat for Humanity re-store is open to the public and carries a wide selection of materials and supplies. The website is www.restore.org.

The Department of Environmental Management has paint and a free construction supply swap-meet. For more information call (816) 513-8400.

Local businesses may be able to help as well if they are made aware of the need and if you are flexible, their odd stock or mismatched paint may be the best bargain in town.

Maintenance costs add up. Here are some resources.

Community Beautification Grants. Two grant options will be available through the program. One for residential, single-family home owners and one for commercial business owners.

Chapter 353 tax abatement is an incentive allowed by Missouri law to encourage the redevelopment of blighted areas through the abatement of real property taxes.

Mid-America Regional Council (MARC) Department of Aging Services offers referral services for individuals aged 60 and over. For help, call MARC at (816) 474-4240.

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provides Property Improvement Loans under Title I, which insure loans for light to moderate property rehab. Reach out to HUD at (913) 551-5462 or (800) 767-7468.

USDA Rural Development has several home programs through the Rural Development Specialist. These loans and grants might be available to very low-income residents who own homes needing repairs. For details, call USDA at (573) 876-0976.

The United Way offers a comprehensive directory of services. For more information, contact them at (816) 559-4671.

Consumer Credit Counseling (CCC) helps residents manage their money to afford home improvements. CCC provides free financial crisis services like debt management, budgeting, consumer financing education, and smart use of credit. Call (816) 753-0535 for assistance.

The Harrisonville Ministerial Alliance might be able to help financially in emergencies. Contact them at (816) 884-2431.

GFL Bulky Item removal

(816) 380-5595

Residents may set out one bulky household item per month to be picked up free of charge. This is only for household items that do not fit in the cart, but it does include carpet up to a maximum of 10 feet by 10 feet square. If you have more than one item, please contact GFL to set up pricing for the collection of the items.

City Offered Opportunities For Disposal

The City of Harrisonville offers a citywide cleanup of household goods and minor construction debris, for residents, and a separate event for brush and yard waste, usually in the spring and fall. Contact the City's Communication Information Specialist at (816) 380-8909 for further information.

The City of Harrisonville also offers a household hazardous waste drop off each year. At other times, residents can drop off waste items at the Lee's Summit Resource Recovery Park, 2101 SE Hamblin Road, Lee's Summit, MO. Call (816) 474-4240 for hours and details.

Recycling Drop-off: Drop-off bins for clothing, glass, paper and magazines are located throughout the City of Harrisonville.

Donation Opportunities or locations

National Public Radio KCUR vehicle donations. Call 1-855-277-2346

Public Broadcast System (PBS KCPT) vehicle donations. Call 1-855-519-5278

American Cancer Society: vehicle donations. Call 1-888-227-5500.
