City to host Weather-Aware Saturday event —

Located firmly in the center of the Heartland, Harrisonville sees a wide variety of weather patterns throughout each year. With that in mind, it is important to remember the dangers that many of these weather patterns can bring and to stay weather aware during any season. As we enter the spring-storm season, we want to invite you to the first annual Weather-Aware Saturday event! From 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., on March 7, you will be able to tour each of the new storm shelters and speak with first responders about the importance of being weather aware.

The event will give residents an opportunity to establish a personalized severe-weather plan, specific to their home, and to learn about the potential dangers of severe weather in the Midwest.

For more information about the storm-shelters available in Harrisonville and to view the City's severe-weather protocols, visit www.harrisonville.com.

Updates required for some utility accounts —

There are several factors that go into keeping our community strong and functioning smoothly.

Of these factors, the undeniable key to the success of Harrisonville is a working relationship between our residents and City staff and officials. This partnership has existed since the formation of our community nearly 200 years ago and we know that it will continue long into the future. As we continue to build upon this relationship, we need to update some vital information in our Utility Office. Many of our residents have enjoyed life in Harrisonville for many years. And, in the past, signing up for utilities required providing City staff with very little information. As we continue to grow and strive for success, we have found that, for some accounts, we do not have all of the information we need to best serve our residents. To get that information and continue to serve our residents the best we can, our Utility staff will be sending out letters to residents (Continued on back) continued... whose accounts are missing important pieces of information. If you receive one of these letters, please contact our staff at City Hall and help them get your account back up to date. These updates can be made by phone (816) 380-8900 or in person at City Hall, located at 300 E Pearl Street. All information provided is necessary for effectively serving our residents and will receive our highest level of security. Another way you can help our community going strong is to make sure that the contact information and emergency contact information within our system is up to date. This will allow our staff to best serve you in an emergency situation, such as a power outage, water main break, etc. To update your information, please call the Utility Office or come in and speak with our Utility staff at City Hall. Once again, we greatly appreciate the relationship we have with our residents and are grateful for the work being done to keep that relationship strong.

March Town Hall Meeting — At 9 a.m. on March 7, Mayor Judy Bowman, Alderwoman Judith Reece and Alderman Dave Doerhoff will host a Town Hall Meeting in the HUB at the Harrisonville United Methodist Church, located at 2600 E Mechanic Street. The Cass County Public Library will be the guest presenter, as we make up for the January Town Hall meeting that was canceled due to poor weather. Dan Brower, Assistant Director with the library has been a popular guest presenter at previous meetings and we are pleased that he will be joining us once again! During the event, you will also be able to hear the latest from City Hall and be able to speak with your elected officials. All Harrisonville residents are welcome! Refreshments will be served.

Utility deadlines — We would like to make residents aware of the final deadlines for payment of past due February and March utility accounts.
